

Gulliver, MI Author Publishes Suspense Novel

In This Novel a Local Cop and a FBI Agent Team up to Catch a Serial Killer

Deadbolt, a new book by Mary Kremer, has been released by Dorrance Publishing Co., Inc.

St. Louis has a serial killer.

Women are being sadistically tortured, brutally raped and murdered; the crime scenes horrific. Homicide Lieutenant Grace Van Haran is assigned the case. But when a second victim is butchered in as many months, she and her team are no closer to finding the monster. It could be anyone. How and why the women are hunted, remains a mystery. There appears to be no connection between the victims...no common factor; their paths have never crossed. The only similarities are that both women were home alone on the night of the attacks and their deadbolts locked. Everything appears to be random. Except that Lieutenant Van Haran doesn't believe in random.

To assist in the investigation, the mayor and chief of police bring in Agent Dr. Spartacus Breen of the FBI's Behavioral Analysis Unit. He is an expert in crime profiling. Initially suspicious of Breen, as the time between murders shortens and the killings become more heinous, the task force soon learns that they need all the help they can get.

With a city locked in terror, before any more women have to die, Van Haran and Breen need to turn the tables on the killer. They need to turn the hunter unto the hunted.
