

Skaneateles, NY Author Publishes Novel

In This Novel a Young Woman Comes of Age in 1980s Suburbia

Every Flower Blooms, a new book by Michele Struble, has been released by Dorrance Publishing Co., Inc.

Every Flower Blooms follows Leah's journey through her most formative years. Primarily set in 1980s suburbia, it's a story filled with moments both joyful and poignant as Leah navigates her teens and early twenties. You'll get to know Leah well as her shared thoughts round out the narrative and provide insight into her colorful yet deep personality. You'll also be introduced to Leah's family, friends, and others who play very important roles in her story. Sometimes you'll laugh, sometimes you'll cry, but you'll always find yourself rooting for Leah because you identify with some aspect of her story.

Whether you're young enough to marvel about a teenager without a cell phone and texting or old enough to remember those days, Every Flower Blooms is sure to touch your heart.

About the Author

Michele Struble has an A.A. in Liberal Arts, a B.A. in English, and a J.D. in Law. She lives in a rural, picturesque part of Skaneateles, New York, a peaceful setting for writing. She loves flowers and gardening, hiking, exploring, and being outdoors. Depending on the season, one of her favorite ways to spend a beautiful day is landscaping with her husband, Chris, or playing in the snow with her quirky and lovable Newfoundland, Bear.

Every Flower Blooms is a 540-page paperback with a retail price of $30.00. The ISBN is 978-1-6442-6216-0. It was published by Dorrance Publishing Co., Inc of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.
