In This Kids Book a Gecko Gets a Car Ride Back to Nature

Gulliver the Traveling Gecko, a new book by Mary Ann Donovan, has been released by RoseDog Books.

Gulliver the Traveling Gecko is a story about a gecko, a lizard mainly found in southern regions. Since this is not a well-known animal, Mary Ann Donovan thought it would be an interesting and fun story for little ones.

On a recent day trip to a nearby beach town, a gecko spent the entire day on and in the author's car. This made the trip both surprising and enjoyable for both the author and the Gecko she named Gulliver.

The best part of the story was the fact that Donovan was able to bring Gulliver back to its original surroundings.

About the Author

Author Mary Ann Donovan lived in Florida for several years. She has seen countless geckos but this was the first time she actually traveled with one. Having eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren, she thought they and other children would enjoy this unique story.

Donovan now resides in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, where she was born and raised and is pleased to be once again close to family. She has always wanted to write and this is her first book. When not writing, she is an avid reader, jazz buff and sports fan.
