Motivation: A Must Have Quality, a new book by Nhung Phan, Psy. D., QME, has been released by RoseDog Books.

Nhung Phan, Psy. D., QME has the credibility, professional expertise, educational credentials, and personal tribulations that lend credence to her words of encouragement and educational information in this book. Her success as a young psychologist who owns a rapidly growing counseling center is evidence that what she is sharing with you can help you achieve your goals. You can check out her counseling business at www.healingpcc.com. Dr. Phan is in the progress of opening a medical group practice for workers' compensation, in which she will be supervising post-doc psychologist interns (which she is already doing) and delegating medical evaluations to doctors; such as orthopedic surgeons, neurosurgeons, cosmetic surgeons, internal medicine doctors, chiropractors, psychologists, psychiatrists, pain management specialists, and more.

Dr. Phan had BIG ideas and HUGE dreams! She made them come alive using the most valuable qualities that she believes are inherent in attaining any goals or plans, MOTIVATION and DETERMINATION, her most prized qualities. This book hopes to inspire you to let go of your fear, believe in yourself, open the business of your dream, get the job you want, attain higher education, and never give up. The author is just an ordinary person. If she can do it, so can you!
