

RoseDog Books

Lewistown, NY Author Publishes Children's Book

In This Kids Book a Little Girl is affected by her Grandma Getting Alzheimer's

My Grandmother is a Little Bit Lost, a new book by Margaret Talarico, has been released by RoseDog Books.

In My Grandmother is a Little Bit Lost, it is very sad when grandchildren, who are so used to having a grandmother as an integral part of their lives, watch her become someone who does not interact with them and eventually doesn't even recognize them. This book was written to give young children an understanding as to what is happening to a beloved grandmother in a way that young children can grasp.

About the Author

Margaret Talarico had a mother with Dementia Alzheimer's disease. It was, at first, very frightening and confusing. Then, as the family realized what was happening, they were able to understand and help her as well as cope with it themselves.

Coming from a large family, they had a lot of support. Much has been written and acknowledged about how this disease affects spouses and adult children, but very little how about how this affects grandchildren.

My Grandmother is a Little Bit Lost is a 30-page paperback with a retail price of $19.00. The ISBN is 978-1-4809-8061-7. It was published by RoseDog Books of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. For more information, or to request a review copy, please go to our virtual pressroom at www.dorrancepressroom.com or our online bookstore at www.rosedogbookstore.com.